

No surprises in reply Prime Minister Orbán

In his reply to the Open Letter EuroScience has written on the bill now signed into law that curtails the Central European University, Prime Minister Orbán unsurprisingly invokes an international disinformation campaign. He might as well draw the conclusion that the values of academic freedom and international collaboration and mobility are seen as crucial by scientists as well as governments and citizens for the future of open democratic societies. That is why all react in a very similar way. Read for yourself, and keep expressing your solidarity with the scientists and scientific institutions in Hungary and all those that believe in and fight for open societies.
